

Richard Litt

Biographical Information

Richard Litt is the founder, chairman and chief executive officer of Genesis Systems Group, LLC a North American leader in the design, manufacture and implementation of robotic welding work-cells.

Rich is widely respected in his industry as a leading spokesman for robotic welding automation. Mr. Litt is active in industry associations. He is a member of the Association for Manufacturing Technology. He has served twice as chapter chairman of the American Welding Society. Additionally, he is a member of the Board of Directors of the Robotic Industries Association. He currently holds three patents related to robotic apparatus with members of his organization holding several more.

Rich has been recognized as a strong Midwest business leader. He was a finalist for the prestigious Ernst and Young “Entrepreneur of the Year” award and was also named Iowa Small Business Person of the Year. In October of 2005 he was inducted into the Quad Cities Area Business Hall of Fame honoring his lifetime of outstanding achievements.